

Connecting Strength

Dear Valued Customer,

As you may be aware, K2's certifications have been temporarily removed from the MCS database over the weekend. K2 is not the only manufacturer affected by this and all affected manufacturers account for a majority of the UK solar market. The common factor seems to be that only certifications originally issued by the BRE are affected, whereas certifications issued by other certification bodies aren't. This is a result of varying interpretations of the MCS012 Issue 3.0 by the different certification bodies.

We strongly oppose this action as our mounting systems have not changed and had been fully tested in accordance with MCS rules and regulations and the mandatory factory inspections and audits are all up to date.

K2 always has been and will stay committed to product quality, reliability, innovation and independent external testing and fully supports the MCS Standards.

Please be assured that we are working hard behind the scenes to rectify this issue and we will make an announcement as soon as we have further clarification from MCS.

Thank you for your patience during this time.
